

Lynn Mitchell
Policy Director
Corporate Voices for Working Families

Lynn Mitchell currently serves as the Policy Director of Corporate Voices for Working Families. As Policy Director, Lynn is responsible for managing Corporate Voices' policy programs and projects.

Prior to joining Corporate Voices, Lynn worked at the Trust for Early Education as the Director of Federal Affairs where she engaged federal policymakers about the importance of high-quality preschool and the necessity of universal preschool access. Before arriving at the Trust for Early Education, Lynn served as Federal Liaison to Maryland Governor Parris N. Glendening on human service and K-12 education issues. In that capacity she represented the Office of the Governor to the Maryland Congressional Delegation, National Governors Association and federal administration officials.

Lynn holds a Bachelor's Degree from Georgetown University and a Master's in Public Administration from the University of Southern California. She lives in Bethesda, MD with her husband and two young children.
